ADVERTISEMENT.

THE present Catalogue has been prepared to meet the immediate wants of those, who are hereafter to have access to the Athenæum as a circulating Library. It is, therefore, simply an alphabetical index of the Books; made, indeed, in some haste, but not probably containing more errors and deficiencies than might be expected from a first attempt to furnish a Catalogue of so large a Library. A similar index is still wanted of about a thousand volumes of Tracts, which are already bound, and of a nearly equal amount of Tracts, which have never been bound; but, it was not possible to prepare this index for the present volume without too long delaying its appearance.

Several thousand volumes of Books were ordered for the Athenæum during the last summer. As none of them are rare, or difficult to be procured, they will no doubt soon be received; and it has, therefore, been thought best to insert their titles in this Catalogue. They can easily be distinguished, because no number of a shelf is attached to them, and no note of the time or place where they were printed.

When this large addition shall have been received, and an index of the very valuable collection of Pamphlets arranged, the materials for a scientific Catalogue will then be prepared. Such a catalogue cannot, indeed, be completed, without much care, time and labour. But the munificent patronage, which has been lately extended to the Athenæum; the rich and abundant materials shown in the index now presented to the public; and the hopes that may reasonably be indulged for its future increase, all demand a full and careful catalogue of the works it contains, arranged in the order of subjects. It is, therefore, intended to prepare such a catalogue, as soon as the more urgent wants of the Institution will permit.

He shall report to the same Committee all communications received by him, relating to the Institution; shall keep all papers in his department regularly on file, and take receipts for all certificates of shares, which he may issue. In case of vacancy in the office, or of his absence from any meeting, a Secretary pro tempore may be appointed by the Trustees.

Art. 9. The Librarian, and in his absence the sub-librarian, shall preserve and arrange in proper order all books and other articles in the Athenæum, and make out complete Catalogues of the same. He shall cause the rules and regulations to be observed, shall report to the Standing Committee all donations and all communications received by him, and all violations of good order, or of the regulations of the Athenæum; and shall perform such other duties as the Trustees may from time to time prescribe.
